Networking & Support Groups

Resource Family Networking provides resource families the opportunity to meet and build relationships with other resource parents in their communities. Peer support is critical to your success as a resource family. Networking and Support groups can help you by: providing monthly training and education opportunities, expanding your network of resource families for peer support, sharing of experiences from veteran caregivers, offering ongoing emotional and moral support, helping to establish partnerships with other caregivers to share babysitting and facilitate play dates, as well as secure additional options for respite care.
